NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .- The story of this nation's surrender to Soviet Russia—a surrender of national prestige and the moral leadership of the civilized world-is not really a new revelation. His own son, Elliott, who nevertheless was given the rank of general and the lives and the dignity threatens to use anew in waging orthousands of better citizens to play with, has revealed what drunkenness and roaring ribaldry passed for statesmanship when his pampered father got off the apron string for a few nights among the worldly stags at A. Hardly more silly and conceited than the old man himself, Elliott wrote a boastful record, which tion affiliates have indicated they will never will be expunged, of stupidity nd crassness in a man whose followers have labored to raise him up as a monument of hope, morality and compassion. The confessions of James F. Byrnes

Beyond the normal traffic killings of his fatalistic Orientals who would rather die than take the trouble to drive around, this war with Japan didn't cost Stalin a split lip. But the smart Yankee trader, who had qualified for enormous feats of business by helping his son to frisk a handcuffed sucker, thought this was statesnanship. There are idiots still who think the same, but they get fewer day by day. All experience shricked that Stalin was no better than Hitler, that the Muscovites had Roosevelt pegged a silly snob and that they laughed at his confidence in their word.

When did he gets these warnings? Years ago. In 1939, the Dies committee brought proof that the Russian government was our enemy and no more to be trusted than the Nazis. The American citizens can't be blamed for not knowing. The Dies ommittee elicited thousands of pages wife and his mud-gun soldiers smeared the committee. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 .- (AP)-District 50 of the United Mine Workers the catch-all union John L. Lewis is in a tight spot.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 20.—(AP) -Louisiana's stake in offshore mineral lands, now the subject of an ownership controversy with the federal government, is a revenue that amounted to $14,392,024 in less than two years, a report of the state mineral board indicated today.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.-(P)-Back again n the land they never expected to each, 69 survivors of the ill-fated Bermuda Sky Queen headed for their nomes today as the civil aeronautics board prepared an all-out investigation of the near-disaster in the moun tainous north Atlantic.

The coast guard cutter Bibb, which wrote maritime history in effecting the rescue of every man, woman and child on the plane which was ditched 800 miles off Newfoundland last Tuesday because of a gasoline shortage, brought the Sky Queen's erstwhile passengers to Boston yesterday.

The 1,600 mile run from "Station Charlie," the coast guard code for ts weather station where the flying ooat came down, ended in one of the wildest demonstrations since the first troopship came home from the to Constitution wharf, it was a coninuous round of salutes from other craft. Whistles were tied down. Fire-

Thousands of relatives, friends and folks who just came down to lend a cheer, met the rescued and their saviors at the dock. One and all, the survivors, many clad in dungarees, shouted their praises of the crew of the Bibb. Too, they couldn't say enough about the airmanship of Captain Charles Martin of Miami, Fla., pilot of the Sky

At the same time, however, some of the passengers *charged the scaplane had been "overloaded."

William Bostock, Shell Oil company employe, a survivor, said a declaration was signed by all but three of the plane's adult passengers, asking "why planes of this type are allowed to Robert Laffer, 62 - year - old New in your studio, who are un-American?" Stripling asked. "Yes," Warner replied.

But he emphasized that whenever un-American ideas creep into scripts. the studio cuts them out.

FLOWERS CAUSE WEDDING FIGHT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20,-(P)-A male guest broke up a wedding reception here last night and launched a mass slugging bee when he leaped between the bride and her maids to intercept a low flat pass. The situation was just as confusing as it appears, police said. Officers who arrested six persons for disturbing the peace, told this story:

The bride, in line with estab lished tradition, tossed the bouquet toward her maids. The male guest, however, managed to catch the flowers. Other guests pointed out that he should give them back to the bride and let her try again He said no and persistently refused to surrender the posics. After some argument the flower catcher decided on a wide end run apparently intending to dash through a door of the public hall which had been rented for the reception. Other male guests formed a hasty defense brought him down after a 5-yard gain which failed to carry the bouquet into clear territory. At this point a group of com-

Lesson Of The Feed Shortage

The yearly feed shortages that the nation has been experiencing for so long now will come to an end eventually. But the lesson they have taught will, we feel sure, linger on with thousands of Louisiana beef, dairy cattle, swine and poultry owners.

In their efforts to overcome the feed shortage, many Louisiana livestock owners are finding out for the first time just what use can be made of our rich soil and mild climate. They are learning just how much feed can be produced at home and the value of a year round grazing program. Thus does an ill wind blow

Of course, it's a little late for anyone who hasn't already started to do a great deal about home feed production during the next few months. But there is a lot that can be done through good management to cut down on the use of expensive and scarce grain feeds. And those who were able to provide plenty of fall and winter grazing and an ample supply of hay and silage will have double reason to rejoice.

The advantages of home feed production in times like these are obvious to everyone. But the experience of successful farmers everywhere has been that good grazing and home feed production pay off in any kind of times. They pay more, perhaps, when feed is scarce and high, but they still pay when food is plentiful and reasonable. They mean better land use and more economical production and that counts in depression times as in

If their experience during the years of feed shortage encourages more livestock growers to take advantage of the opportunities here in Louisiana for year round grazing and greater home feed production, then they will have profited to a considerable extent from these difficult times.

Now, The Lounge Suit!

One of the few bright spots on the international horizon is the forthcoming marriage of the Princess Elizabeth of England. The latest news from London contains an announcement of the Lord Chamberlain on the subject of clothes. He rules that lounge suits will be in order at Westminister Abbey.

Thus the tradition of court dress or full dress uniforms for royal weddings falls victim to the British austerity program. There is, of course, no Lord Chamberlain in the United States to regulate such matters. In this republican land, where clothes are still unrationed, although rising in price, men are still free to fit themselves into hired, borrowed or purchased morning coats for morning or afternoon weddings, or to turn out in white ties for evening ceremonies.

In Britain, which has learned through the centuries accommodate itself to circumstances, the lounge suit is coming into its own, even for weddings. Thus comfort and common sense emerge from adversity,

Blame The Hearth

The open fireplace, according to British Scientist J. D. Bernal, is one of the causes of Britain's troubles. He may have something there.

It is an old British custom, rich in nostalgic overtones, to have an open fireplace in almost every room. There is no central heating. Fires remain unlit in rooms temporarily unoccupied, and chill drafts are endemic in the unevenly heated houses. When a fire is lit, it provides the user with a climate that is tropic on the near side and arctic on the off side.

The British are a hardy race. They have to be, Fireplaces, as operational research scientists are ford of pointing out, use coal very inefficiently. And one of Britain's troubles is lack of coal for adequate industrial production. According to Professor Bernal, a 10 per cent economy in the use of coal for heating houses would assure Britain of enough coal to meet her production schedules.

So the British may be forced to choose between open fireplaces, with all their hallowed associations, and prosperity. It is difficult to predict what their choice will be. All peoples are disposed to cling to outmoded customs and ways of thought even when they know how heavy a price they pay for them.

What is so rare as a day in June? That's an easy one.

A cabinet member who, the minute he leaves public service, doesn't wear out six typewriters and four ghostwriters telling all, confidential and otherwise, that went on when he was in Washington and had his ear to the

There isn't much chance that I'll ever be appointed to the cabinet by any president in his right mind, but miracles have happened. So, just to be on the safe side, I have started writing my memoirs as a cabinet member, which I will publish immediately after I have retired to private life. I am not going to let any of my fellow cabinet members beat me to the presses with a book. I want to be the first to wash the dirty linen. That's when being a public servant really pays off.

My book is tentatively titled, "You Made Me What I am Today—Don't Think I'm Satisfied." Here is a rough draft of one of the chapters.

"I hadn't seen the Boss (I always called him Boss except when I called him Chief, Super Chief, or Twentieth Century Limited) for a week. I was very anxious to see him, and was delighted when he called late in the afternoon and told me to hurry over to you know what color house; that it was important. His voice seemed strained so, without waiting to jot down in my dairy the things about the administration that I hadn't liked that day, I jumped in the biggest car furnished me by the taxpayers and told the chauffeur, a cousin of mine, to step on it.

"I found the Boss seated behind his desk, facing the big windows, so he could look out on the White House grounds. Lest you are curious why the Boss liked to look out of the windows, let me tell you something about him, a little-known facet of his character, which will endear him to you and show him as the warm human being that he really was,

"He had two hobbies. One of them was trapping quail out of season on the White House lawn, and he couldn't bear to take his eyes off the traps, so interested was he in what his catch would be that day. Rumors that the Boss once was seen peddling quail to luxury restaurants are without foundation. He ate every blessed one of them himself. "His other hobby was dynamiting fish in the Poto-

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—Remembering, as vividly as I do, Clark Gable's first appearance on the screen, it was something of a shock to have him tell me, the other day, that he's now been in pictures for more than 17 years. It strikes me that Clark Gable at 46 is well worth a second thought.

Since he came to the screen, he's improved immeasurably as an actor. From the rather amateurish performer that he was in "A Free Soul," he's now become a finished technician, as capable of delicate shadings and subleties as most stars in his profession. But I don't think that it's acting ability which has been responsible for his phenomenal success.

Gable, I think, has held the public's affection to an unusual degree because he's just about the screen's best prototype of the normal American male. He's brawny in the best American tradition. He's good-looking without being even a remote contender for a masculine beauty prize. Very obviously he's never been guilty of taking himself, his success or his profession too seriously. He has an apparent sense of humor.

Off-screen, his conduct is perfectly in accord with his appearance. He drinks a little with his friends, but never to excess. No one ever heard of him being in a brawl. He's powerful, but even-tempered; he never feels that he has to punch someone's nose to prove his virility. And in choosing his intimate friends, he's about as "class conscious" as a tramp dog. His chief hobbies-hunting, fishing, camping-are the favorite hobbies of the average American man.

No, in Gable's case, acting ability is an incidental asset, nothing more. His "Open Sesame" to stardom lies in the simple fact that John and Jane Public like him because he's a very likable Joe.

IDOL CHATTER: Hope it won't hurt stellar feelings, but I hear that Beulah Louise Overell's autograph is priced far higher than that of any screen idol . . . Silly notion:: A New York actor who doesn't profess to be an authority on boxing . . . That old expression, "He turned up his nose," would paint a funny picture—if it were applied to Jimmy Durante . . . Add stars in need of a good role to bolster fading prestige: Lee Tracy . . Are you as tired as I am of speculations about Joan Crawford-Greg Bautzer "romance?" . . . Frettier than ever: Alice (I-won't-return-to-the-screen) Faye . . . Don't think I ever saw a more devoted father than Dan Duryea, papa of two boys aged five and eight.

Some months ago, when "Heaven Only Knows" was previewed, and the cards sent in by members of the audience had been scanned, the producer admitted that he was amazed. At least ninety per cent of the cardwriters, asked what they considered the most appealing thing in the picture, had cited its "spiritual quality" or its "religious theme" or its "moral lesson." There, indeed, was a challenge to the Hollywood conviction that the proper thing to stress in exploiting a picture is sex and excitement. The producer previewed it in several other theaters and got the same reaction in each case; finally, he showed it to some fifty clergymen, and hey lauded the picture's religious import. So what? So 'Heaven Only Knows" is currently playing in Los Angeles and being advertised in Los Angeles newspapers. The advertising blurb reads: "LIVING BY A GUN-LOVING FOR THE MOMENT." Under the blurb is a picture of a scantily clad dance hall girl!

O. Henry, who wrote the immortal short story, "The Gift of the Magi," would have loved this tid-bit. Last week the Jack Paars celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Paar, being new to the glitter of Hollywood, has spoken wistfully on several occasions of her yen for a mink coat. Jack, too recent a success to have much money, nevertheless decided to buy her a mink coat for an anniversary present. The one he took home for her approval carried a price tage bigger than the figure in their "Mr.-or-Mrs." bank book. Mrs. Paar gazed at it ecstatically, then opined it would have to be returned. She had already bought her spouse an anniversary giftthe one thing he had been wanting for months, a house. She's made the down payment from the same joint account, and it's wiped out!

Speaking of women's duds, I'm reminded of a chucklesome story told by Dorothea Richmond, the idea girl who's built a million dollar business selling to fans the clothes worn by stars in their screen roles. She tells me that some days ago a very dignified young lady entered her "Gowns of the Stars" shop and opened the conversation with the following remarks: "I'm not a typical movie fan, but I would like to buy a gown worn by Paulette Goddard. I think she's the most wonderful woman that ever lived!"

SCHOOL TROUBLES

School life brings its troubles to all children, Children live in their own world. They have their own codes, feelings, likes and dislikes of what is happening to them and about them just as grown people do. Often they would be made quite happy if they got a little help at the right time. Take the matter of plays, Every school has a play in which the children perform, Taking part is an honor, and being a hero or heroine in the drama is the most coveted prize of the year. The choice falls on the teacher's shoulders.

Janet would be the very best heroine. She has everything the role requires but the costume. I don't believe she could get that. Marie, however, could get anything she wants. She isn't in a class with Janet-but "we have to have that dress." Marie gets the part and Janet, knowing her superiority in this field, feels cheated. That's a bad feeling for Janet to have. Marie, on the other hand, has no idea that she was not chosen for her great talent and is unduly pleased with herself.

If there were a group of parents who supplied costumes and such other equipment as the situations demanded, there would be no such difficulty. The teacher could give each child the best of training according to his special abilities,

Then there is the matter of school clothes. At the beginning of the term the children are outfitted for school as well as their parents can manage it. There is little to spare for clothes in the budget. Along about the fifth week in school somebody gets an idea. It would be nice if all the girls wore blue serge and the boys the same, both with white blouses and dark blue matching ties. Just fine. But when that word gets home there is consternation and grief.

It is not possible to run a school for the best interests of the children and leave home out, or the other way around. Both sides must work in harmony. School as thorities should not give a ruling that affects family life without consulting the families. The family should not give children directions that involve the workings of the school without consulting the school.

This may be troublesome to the school authorities who like to go their way with all authority and no consideration of those most concerned, the children and their parents without whom there would be no school and no authorities. Both sides working in harmony can work miracles and save endless trouble.

viewpoint among his Senate Democratic colleagues. It was obvious that his ideas were at variance with those of Republican members.

Senators Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, and Brewster. Republican, Minnesota, told reporters they want to know many more facts than those covered in the Krug report before they will be ready to pass on recommendations President Truman has said he will make to Congress "on the nature and extent of a balanced foreign aid program."

Ferguson said the Krug report, as well as others to be filed later, will get a "thorough going-over by Congress because whatever is done in this situation is going to affect the economy of the United States and the whole world for years to come."

Brewster said he wonders whether there won't be some revision soon in the requests of 16 European nations for a total of $22,44 JJ,000 in longrange, outside aid. He added that Congress will want to know about any such revisions before it acts.

Some administration officials have said privately there is a possibility the total sum may have to be revised upward because (a) the European countries may have overestimated their ability to increase their exports and, (b) the 12 1/2 per cent drop in American prices forecast in their report may not materialize.

In this connection, there were aucost figures on the Marshall plan.

The secretary pointed to current shortages in food, fertilizer, coal, steel and mechanical equipment, adding that steel offers "the most troublesome problem of all."

Breaking down major items, the Krug report held that wheat exports 200,000 in excess of last year's will not substantially impair the American food supply.

It found that an over-all expansion of steel facilities is needed but must be delayed because it would take too much steel to build these now.

It called for a 1948 production in coal, but conceded the boxcar shortage will be a "definite handicap" in getting this coal to its destination. It found the same boxcar bottleneck hampering the distribution of industrial machinery, which is "readily available for export."

The Krug report was not concerned with the financial aspects of the Marshall plan but with the actual movement of goods out of the country, and the interior secretary said the survey is being prepared for Mr. Truman by gave evidence that this would not increase the rate of American exports. In fact, he said, exports have been In submitting his findings, Krug told gradually declining and the effect of the aid program might be to keep them near the former rates. Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises, polling

Pierre de Gaulle, the general's brother, was elected to the municipal council in Paris and is slated to be mayor. The R. P. F. was winning about 50 per cent of the vote in Paris. The general's brother-in-law, Jacques Vendroux, was named to the council

Premier Paul Ramadier, a Socialist was reelected mayor of Decazeville, a vilage in central France, although his party was running third.

Despite the lack of transportation in the strike-bound capital, crowds iammed the sidewalks of Paris last night to watch vote tabulations being put up on electric sign boards and the old battle cry of the Free French forces--"De Gaulle, De Gaulle, De Gaulle"—was heard in the Place de 'Opera.

The election generally was fought along Communist - anti-Communist lines, but the percentage of votes re ceived by the Communists in the early tabulations was approximately the same as they polled in previous balloting since the end of the war.

The R. P. F.-born at Strasbour last April when General de Gaulle in a speech, called on the French people to rally under one cause for the rebirth of France in an organization that would be "above" politicswas running ahead in early returns or municipal councilmen in Paris, Marsoille, Strasbourg, Bordeaux Rennes, Nantes, Versailles, Cheroourg, Grenoble and many other smaller cities.

Toulon, the naval base where the French fleet was scuttled during the war, was the only major community 24, the Socialists nine and the M. R. P.

Another clue to General de Gaulle's political strength came in the count of votes in Paris' 19th district, often called the capital's "Red belt," where the R. P. F. got 27,454 votes to 24,541 for the Communists in final official returns. The Socialists got 5,945 and the M R P 3465 cruiting office here. After he received report concerning actions of the Newells, Hulin said, he contacted Captain O. T. Tapp, head of the recruiting station, who denied any knowledge of Newell.

It was after Hulin's suspicions were aroused that Newell and his wife were arrested by Monroe police and federal agents for violation of the White Slave act. When taken into custody, Mrs. Newell said her husband began arranging "dates" for her after they ran out of money on their honeymoon following their marriage in St. Louis last June 12.

Indicted by a U. S. grand jury for transporting a woman across state lines for immoral purposes and illegally wearing a military uniform, Newell pleaded not guilty when arraigned in federal court last week.

Another testifying this morning was Tommy Yant, also a Negro bellboy at the Monroe hotel, who said he had seen Newell on several occasions when they were registered there, but said the young veteran was wearing blue overall pants and not an army uni-

'HELL RUN' GROUP PUT BEHIND BARS

SANTA MARIA, Calif., Oct. 20.-(A)-Passengers of the army's transcontinental prison train "Hell Run" are lodged today in quarters from which escape would be "extremely difficult.

The 141 tough army prisoners, transported from Greenhaven, N. Y., to the disciplinary barracks at nearby Camp Cooke, made the trip a nightmare for their guards with unruliness, escapes and attempted escapes.

Seven escaped in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. Six were recaptured, one being shot seriously. One man, James D. Anders, 21, of Jamestown, N. Y., made good his escape and is being hunted in Kansas, Scores of attempts to escape from the train were made, every time it slowed lown, officers said. Several were shot and wounded by guards.

But Col. Wade D. Killen of Salt Lake City, train commander from there westward, said the trip was without serious incident from Lake City here after the guard was increased to 52 officers and men.

The train fairly bristled with .45 pistols, sub-machine guns and carines as it passed through Las Vegas, Nev., San Bernardino, Calif., and the outer rail yards of Los Angeles, ar-

PUBLIC FORUM

SOME QUESTIONS October 19, 1947.

To the Editor: Don't you people think the housing shortage is terrible? Or have you who have a place to live ever thought about it?

Well. I can tell you of a few who have thought about it. Ask some of the veterans where they are living and under what conditions. Some will tell you that they are living in one furnished room, while others don't have that much. In my opinion they are greatly handicapped as they were not here to grab the good living quarters and hang onto them. Now, they don't have a chance. Neither do they have the money to buy as they didn't have a chance to make high wages during the war, and now when they get a job there's no place to People just won't rent their places. They have some friend whom they're saving it for, who never was in the service. Now I ask you, is that going on forever?

you can do anything for the veterans and their wives (which I am), please do it now before it is too late.

MR. AND MRS. VETERAN.

Monroe, La. Oct. 20, 1947.

Attention seems to have centered itself around the third suggestion, which means consolidation of the city schools under the Ouachita parish school board. Is this solution the best of the three for the schools of city -Funeral services for Mrs. Frances

No, consolidation under parish boards is complete in 61 of the 64 parishes of the state, and Louisiana day with the Rev. Joseph C. Danield is 44th in general literacy and 48th in rural in the entire country. One parish, Ascension, is known to be Burial was in the Rayville Masonic doing an outstanding job in rural education, and she can be excluded when placing the responsibility for daughters, Mrs. Ola McManus and our rural literacy standing, one out of 61 succeeding, with entire con-

Schools are operated for parish has the widest span of dif- the best possible in education and ference between the highest and lowest in school facilities of any in the state. The survey was one of buildings and other physical assets. A survey of literacy would, in all probability, not show so wide a span, but it would, without doubt, show neglect as compared with urban sections.

The National Education Research Bulletin, "Extent of Schooling of the Rural-Farm Population and the Urban Population," Nov. 1944, carries this statement on page one, "The extreme ange of difference between ruralfarm and urban populations is .06 of one year in New Hampshire; the greatest is 3.23 years for Louisiana." This has reference to schooling and not to physical facilities. Louisiana's parish-wide administration of schools is shown to have resulted in neglect of rural education.

Education Foundation has been doing extensive research on education in Louisiana since the war. Dr. Ott visited Monroe last winter on invitation of a group of teachers and par ents. In his address on "Education in Louisiana," he made the recommendation that the number of school systems in the state be increased, because of the greater efficiency of the smaller systems, as shown by literacy surveys. Dr. Ott gave quotations from the literacy figures of states having city and county systems.

Since consolidation under parish (or county) systems has accomplished so little in literacy rating in Louisiana and in the other three states following the plan as compared with thos using city and county systems, would it be wise to try to solve our prob-lem by the use of the plan that has already proven less productive of educational advantages?

THE 1,000,000th BENDIX Washer

answers 4 important questions

What is the THRIFTIEST way to get clothes cleanest?

Use a small amount of soap in a small amount of hot water so there'll be enough hot water left to give the clothes a thorough rinsing. That's exactly the way the Bendix works. And that's exactly how the 1,000,000 Bendix Washers now in use are piling up big savings for their happy owners.

2 What is the SAFEST way to get clothes cleanest?

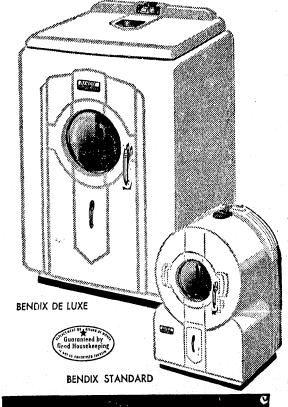

The same way you wash your daintiest garments ... by "dunking" them gently in and out of the suds. And that's exactly how 1,000,000 Bendix Washers are making clothes last longer. For in the Bendix, clothes are gently tumbled-hundreds of timesin and out of the suds. No agitator wear and tear ... no rubbing, scrubbing and twisting.

3 What's the EASIEST way to get clothes cleanest?

In ten whole years of trouble-free service, the Bendix automatic Washer has saved more hard work for more housewives than any other washer in the world. Just put in the clothes, set the dial, add soap . . . and you're through. The Bendix thoroughly washes, rinses and damp-drys the clothes ... automatically ... even when you're not in the house.

4 How can I be SURE the Bendix is the best?

One of the million lucky Bendix owners is a neighbor of yours. So you don't have to take our word for it. Just ask her what a wonderful washing job her Bendix does . . . how thrifty it is . . . and what a wonderful life it is with all the work of washing done for her automatically.

WOMAN OBJECTS TO STARING NEIGHBOR

NEW. ORLEANS, Oct. 20.-(AP)-A New Orleans housewife phoned police yesterday and said a neighbor of hers was making her very nervous, staring at her through a pair of field glasses.

The neighbor, she said, sat in his window all day long. He simply sat and stared through the glasses, investigating the windows of all the houses around him, hers in particular. She said he wanted speedy action

The law pondered the situation, then told her that since the man wasn't creating a disturbance, and since he was in his own room, nothing could be done by way of punish-"But," the police sergeant said, "you

MAKES PROTEST

Opposes Plan Of Survey To Abandon Building Now Used

Members of Eureka school community met the past week and discussed the school survey which proooses that the Eureka school be closed and children be carried by school bus to Calhoun. In the meeting it was shown that 95 per cent were opposed to such a plan.

A committee was named to confer with George Welch, parish superintendent to urge that the proposed project not be carried into effect The committee named is composed of the following; Earl Garland, Jordan, B. O. Avant and L. L. Frost, Jr. The group plans to Iso go to the school board with their decision. Eureka school has six grades, 60 pupils and three teachers. The school s the community center and serves for public meetings from time to time. The expressed desire is to keep small children in a school that near their home, thus, ortening their school day by several hours. It was stated that transportation or children to the already crowded school would necessitate purchase and maintenance of one or two more school buses making any financial saving questionable. The patrons of the school express the opinion that they would favor a ward tax to be used exclusively for the operation of Eureka school.

Tech has allowed this season, even though the Auburn Tigers went down, 27-7. Mississippi State's forces finally got going after a scoreless first half to crush Duquesne, 34-0; Mississippi performed about as expected in downing Tulane, 27-14. L. S. U. got things underway Friday night 14-13 triumph over Boston College Georgia charged up and down the field to a total of 416 yards and won, 20-7, over Oklahoma A & M, and Alabama held Tennessee at bay while winning 10-0.

The Georgia-Crimson Tide meeting this week will carry the hopes of the Bulldogs in successfully defending the title shared last year with Tennessee. The Vols are pretty well out of the running with two defeats-and no points scored against a conference foe-and Georgia would be too if defeated by Alabama.

The battle at Baton Rouge is just as crucial for Vanderbilt and the Tigers as each has lost once. Auburn's destiny also is at stake for a loss for the Plainsmen would just about settle their chances.

From the looks of things, the Georgia Tech-Alabama game in Birmingham November 15 will have more to do with the championship than any game between now and then. A victory for Tech then would leave the issue in doubt until November 29 when Georgia and the Jackets meet here. That's a long time off with this week's games marking only the end of the first half of the season

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .-- (AP)-The American Legion boasts that 204 players who played for major league clubs during 1947 are former legion junior players, 113 in the American League and 91 in the National. This 7-6 decision over powerful North probably has nothing to do with the Scheduled To Return To American League's world series victory except that Joe Page is one of the Yankees' 12 former legion boys,

. . Maurice Martin and Gene Anderson, two of Phog Allen's promising freshman basketballers two years ago, yards for a touchdown and Laz Lewis are back on the Kansas squad, but the Jayhawkers are more excited over a 1947 frosh named Jerry Waugh. . . Ralph Brown, property of the Yankees, has played two seasons of pro baseball. In 1946 he hit .381 for Tampa to lead the Florida International League. This year he topped the Sally League with .362 for Augusta, Ga., and stole 30 bases to boot. When anyone suggests that Western Michigan College was a bit rash in booking a football game with Illinois for Nov. 8, Tub Thumper Homer Dunham replies: "We won't be as bad as U. C. L. A. was last New Year's Day."

Tryout

When Edgar (Special Delivery) nes, Cleveland Browns' speedy left halfback and distributor of barbed jests, busted his arm, his teammates figured they had a chance to get square without getting slugged . Quarterback Otto Graham innocently remarked, "the first play the perfect list, and Travis Tidwell I'm going to call when you get back racked up the first points Georgia in the lineup is T-25." . . . That's an off-tackle smash by the left half and Jones promptly asked how come. "Well, that's the play on which you broke your arm," Graham replied, "and I want to find out carly whether you can take it."

Monday Matinee

Right after the baseball season, Ted Williams went fishing near Princeton, Minn., carrying a weighted bat with his fishing tackle . . . Ted doesn't use it to club muskies to death; the bat is to keep his wrists strong and supple and he puts the fish back in the water . . . Syracuse U. has been chosen to represent the east in the first national collegiate basketball championships (conservative title, what?) at Los Angeles Olympic auditorium Dec. 26-29 . One of the best plugs for Taylor Spink's book on Judge Landis comes in a letter to the author from Kenesaw M. Landis, 2nd, who comments: "You have called the balls and strikes as you saw them, which is all that anyone can do." . . . Coy McGee, Notre Dame scatback, has an 89 average in his course in aeronautical engineering. He also is noted for his Final decision to resume the Jamaica meeting was reached late yesterday after a three-hour sessio which the Rev. William J. Kelley, chairman of the state labor relations board, discussed the agreement with more than 200 owners and trainers. The "code of honor," drafted earlier last week by a citizens' committee appointed by Mayor William O'Dwyer. was accepted by the union Saturday night when the strikers agreed to return to work and a sufficient number of horsemen had signed the . . . That's agreement by last night to insure a resumption of racing.

Pointing out that the agreement loes not provide for a closed shopone of the demands that held up an carlier settlement-Father Kelley told the horsemen "that is something you vill have to thresh out later."

Scheduled to remain in effect through September, 1949, the code provides for improved working conditions and contains a clause prohibiting both strikes and lockouts but alls for minimum wages only slightly higher than the average now being paid in the New York area.

Under the agreement, grooms will be guaranteed a minimum of $225 month while the minimum scale for exercise riders will be $210 for beginners, $235 for those with two to hree years' experience and $275 for those with three or more years' experience.

Society Of Christian Service Gives Extended Program

COLLINSTON, La., Oct. 20.-(Special)-The Collinston Woman's Society of Christian Service was hostess to W. S. C. S. societies of Zone 2 of the Monroe district recently. The program, in charge of the zone leader Mrs. W. W. Storment of Bastrop, was opened with singing from the Methodist Hymnal followed by an address of welcome by Mrs. A. J. Tarver president of the Collinston society.

"Decisions," was the subject of an inspiring devotional given by Mrs. Guy Gallagher of Mer Rouge which was closed with prayer by Mrs. Benton Hornbeak of Mer Rouge.

"We, the People," (a study of the United Nations' charter). "Prayer," and "World Evangelism," new studies for the next twelve months, were interestingly introduced by Mrs. J. J. McKeithen of Grayson.

Mrs. T. A. Bankston of Bastrop thrilled the congregation with her lovely voice in solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. B. W. Hopgood of Collinston

Mrs. E. N. Jackson of Monroe, conference secretary and editor of the Louisiana Annual Report, gave an interesting word sketch on the use of that informative publication,

Mrs. Allen W. Pomeroy of Bastrop spoke on "As An Individual What Can I Do?" This subject dealt with aptitudes of the individual for Christian service and brought out the importance of the newly created office of secretary of Status of Woman. Mrs. D. C. Metcalf of West Monroe, president of Monroe district, spoke on "Our Responsibility in the Crusade for Christ" and of the benefit of the W. S. C. S. to Methodist

It sounded good; it was apparently a lower in effort, yet higher in achieveforward step in the education of the ment than does Louisiana. It's time we were facing the fact that we are rural boy and girl. Yes, a new day not getting the results the tax payers was dawning in Louisiana's system of are entitled to get, It is true that many states spend more per child than does Louisiana; nevertheless, as long as our state system remains as inefficient as it is, we would only be pouring money down a rat-hole if we ncreased our allotment under present isiana had the highest percentage of any state in our nation of adults over

Do you know why the Louisiana education system lags behind that of the nation? Let me give you an illustration. Suppose Walla Walla "What brought on all this hairy the states have been assigned a rank agony?" Inquired Pythias. I am thinking at this time of a parish not very far from us, where such a condition existed for many years. They decided several years ago to build a new combination high school and junior college. After the building was started, the majority of the board, who lived outside this parish seat, decided that that was too much to give to the town; and work was stopped on the building. Finally months of arguing, a compromise was reached where y only a high school would be conducted in the building. In another parish, there was a

A recapitulation of freshmen grades in college shows 19 percent "A's"; 29 percent "B's"; (44 percent A's and B's, which is a wonderful record); 30 percent "C's"; 17 percent "D's"; and five percent "F's". This is a fairly typical record of all our classes, and we are very proud of it.

MARINE CORPS

League To Further Enlistment Campaign Now In Progress

TO URGE DRIVE

Tuesday night's meeting of the Northeast Louisiana Detachment of the Marine Corps League will be devoted to furtherance of the enlistment campaign being waged by Company D, 10th Battalion, organized reserve unit of marines, and to adoption of plans for the formal installation of recently-elected officers of the detachment.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock. It will be held in the courtroom on the third floor of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

Capt. M. A. Newburn, retiring commandant of the detachment and commanding officer of Company D, said a sufficient number of former marines had been enlisted to assure organization of the unit, but that it was his desire to build the outfit to full strength as rapidly as possible. The company, a rifle unit, has an authorized complement of 250 men.

Men between the ages of 17 and 32 who are in good health are invited to attend Tuesday night's meeting of the league to learn of the marine corps reserve program. Men without prior service as well as veterans are being enlisted in Company D.

Jim Field, chairman in charge of arrangements, will outline plans for the formal installation of the new officers of the league at its November 4 meeting. At that time George Tidwell will succeed Newburn as commandant.

Captain Newburn, in urging participation in the marine reserve program, called attention to two things, the pay scale and the obligations of reservists. The pay of members of the company ranges from $157.50 a year for privates to $346.50 a year for master sergeants. Members of the company are under federal control and may be mobilized only upon order of the president of the United States, and then only in event of war or national emergency Furthermore, a reservist may be discharged at any time at his own re-
